STATELINE, Idaho (July 17, 2026) — Kevin Harvick picked up where he left off in June, collecting his second CARS Tour Northwest Pro Late Model victory at Stateline Speedway and of the 2026 season Saturday night in the 27th annual Idaho 200.

After earning the outside front-row starting position by winning June's Road to the Idaho 200, Harvick led the final 131 laps to capture the Idaho 200 victory, adding his name to the long list of winners in the prestigious event. The victory was worth $15,000.

"I think we made it a little bit better," Harvick said. "We were just tight through the middle of the corner, but they had a ton of options on the racetrack as to where you could run your car. I found some things that would work on the restart and then try to take care of the right front tire, and it all worked out."

Harvick led flag to flag for 150 laps to win a June 13 race at Stateline.

The 2022 Idaho 200 winner Haeden Plybon set a new track record in qualifying and led the field of 26 Pro Late Models to the green flag in the 200-lap feature.

After qualifying third, Ebert looked to be on his way to another strong finish before mechanical issues forced him to the hot pit early in the race. Through the opening four races of the season, Ebert had averaged a 4.5 finishing position. His crew attempted to get him back onto the track, but ultimately finished the night with a 26th-place finish, 152 laps down.

Plybon led the opening 69 laps, working his way through heavy lapped traffic while maintaining his advantage over Harvick and eventually lapping up to 11th place.

The race's first caution flew on Lap 70 when Andrew Riehl suffered an engine failure entering Turn 1 and laid oil across the racing surface, sending both Thomas Stanford and Plybon into the outside wall as they slid through the oil.

Stanford entered the night third in the championship standings, just 17 points behind Ebert, but his night came to an early end along with Riehl's.

Right as the race was red flagged for cleanup, Plybon brought his wounded car to the hot pit where his team repaired what they could.

Harvick then took command of the lead and began to put some distance between himself and second-place Vito Cancilla, while Plybon began charging back through the field. He climbed as high as eighth before the scheduled Lap 100 break.

Just before the break, Johvan Dillon and Rowdy Rupunski battled for third when the two made contact on the frontstretch, leaving Dillon with a tire rub on his right front.

During the break, Dillon's crew repaired the damage while Dillon and Rupunski climbed from their cars and talked through the incident on the frontstretch apron. After saying their peace, the two shook hands, chalked it up to hard racing and walked back to their cars for the second half of the race.

When the race resumed, Harvick once again jumped out front with Cancilla settling into second as the field began working through the final 100 laps.

With 35 laps remaining, Casey Jeske, Nick Gibson and Plybon found themselves locked in a three-car battle for fifth.

The trio raced under a blanket, swapping lanes nearly every lap before contact on Lap 174 sent Gibson sliding through the infield and back onto the racing surface in Turn 2. Plybon took advantage of the opening, driving three-wide into Turn 3 to clear both Gibson and Jeske and moved back into the top five for the first time since the Lap 70 incident.

Even with a debris caution setting up one final restart with 14 laps to go, Harvick never faltered. He pulled away from the field over the closing laps to claim the Idaho 200 victory, with Cancilla finishing second.

For Cancilla, it marked another runner-up finish in the Pacific Northwest, and he believes his first CARS Tour Northwest victory is getting closer.

"I feel like we're going to get that first place and it's going to be one heck of a night," Cancilla said. "I'm really looking forward to that, and I do think that when time goes on, we're going to get even faster. I'm really just glad that they built me a really good car for this race and we'll see what we can do in the next race."

Rupunski's third-place finish marked his best career result in CARS Tour Northwest competition, while Dillon and Plybon rallied back to complete the top five.

For pole sitter Plybon, overcoming the early damage made the fifth-place finish feel like a victory in itself.

"We led the first 69 laps or so before then the No.7 lost the motor right in front of us," Plybon said. "Unfortunately, we got caught in his oil and hit the wall and knocked the upper control arm mount over and bent. We passed a lot of cars and honestly we came out of here with a pretty clean race car after all that. It's not the win we wanted, but we'll take it."

Defending champ Andrew Riehl was 14th, two laps down while another former Idaho 200 winner from 2023, Nick Gibson was seventh completing all 200 laps.

27th Annual Idaho 200 finish (Top 10)
1. Kevin Harvick; 2. Vito Cancilla; 3. Rowdy Rupunski; 4. Haeden Plybon; 5. Johvan Dillon; 6. Casey Jeske; 7. Nick Gibson; 8. Zander Peters; 9. Chase Gardner; 10. Trace Thompson. (All only driver to finish 200 laps.)

I got to do some fishing on the west side of the state last week, as the guest of the hosts of The Outdoor Line, which is a sports fishing broadcast, and I got to go on the air live with them. Also, mark your calendars for a fun free kids fishing event coming up very soon.

For many years Tom Nelson, host of The Outdoor Line radio show on AM radio 710AM ESPN in Seattle has invited me to come over and fish with him. This popular broadcast about all things fishing is co-hosted by Joe Pyburn. I mentioned to Tom that I was planning to be in Seattle for a couple of days in July and he invited me to join he and Joe in the studio for a live visit and participate in the program. That sounded great to me, and I committed to being there last Saturday morning. Tom got back to me and said that he and Joe were taking his relatives out on Puget Sound to fish for resident coho and pull their crab pots, and asked if I would like to come along? Heck yes I told him. We had a terrific morning with Larry Stauffer and his grandsons Colt and Jack. Both boys caught their first salmon and were fascinated with the crab we got as well. We had 26 Dungeness crab, and Joe cleaned my share and Tom cooked them right on dock when we got back. I can't thank these guys enough for treating me to a wonderful day on the Sound. It had been many years since I had that experience. This week's photo is of me with Joe Pyburn, co-host of the Outdoor Line radio show.

The following morning, I met them at their studio for the two-hour show. I thought I would be there for a short segment, but I was there for the full two hours. They had me chime in on a couple of topics, like my opinion of what was going on with the WDFW commission right now. Mostly the show is upbeat with a good report on the coho and crab fishing that we experienced the day before, and the excitement about the Chinook fishery opening in Area 9. We touched on the opening of the Entiat River to summer Chinook and the potential of an opening of Chelan Falls. They got a report on the sockeye fishery on Baker Lake and learned that the line to the ramp was two miles long! Tony Floor was on with sentiments about the passing of Frank Haw, who was a legendary figure related to salmon fishing in Washington State and he will be missed. They covered a lot of ground, and it was an honor to be there.

Calder Fiske is an avid angler, and the 14 year old thinks every kid should learn the joy of fishing. So much so that he has organized his second free kids fishing derby at the Blackbird Island Juvenile Pond in Leavenworth. It will take place on Sunday July 26th, from 8 till noon. The pond was destroyed by last year's windstorm and flood. An amazing local effort that included donations of heavy equipment time, volunteer workdays and funding through a GoFundMe page has been restored and planted with 2,000 rainbow trout. Calder has been busy visiting some local businesses and getting prizes and bait for the event. I will remind you that youth under the age of 15 are allowed to fish at Juvenile ponds, and there are several scattered around the state. Kids age 6 to 14 are able to join the fun at the free kids fishing day and qualify to win a prize. Those of you who would like to bring your kids to the event should bring their own rods and reels. Bait will be provided. You should also bring a small cooler to keep your trout fresh. Thanks Calder for sharing your joy of fishing by putting on this event!

The return of sockeye to the Columbia River is dismal this year. Sockeye forecasts have been downgraded a couple of times and are now below 80,000. The entire Columbia River was closed to fishing for sockeye, but some were holding out hope that the Lake Wenatchee return would be high enough to allow for a fishery. I looked at the number of fish that had passed over Rock Island Dam as of the 15th of July and it was just over 48,000. The number of sockeye over Rocky Reach Dam was just over 38,000. Many will look at the difference and assume that these fish are heading up the Wenatchee to the lake. If so, that would represent just over 10,000 fish. Chad Jackson, with the WDFW said that as of the 9th of July 11,000 fish had passed through Tumwater Dam and should be in the lake. That means that maybe over 21,000 fish could be in the lake, but the escapement needed is 23,000. Only 150 fish a day are coming over Rock Island Dam now, so although there has been no official announcement yet, I would bet Lake Wenatchee won't open this season.

There is a special fishery on the upper Columbia that opens on July 1st and runs through August 15th. It takes place in the vicinity of Bridgeport, below Chief Joseph Dam, and occurs in one of my past favorite steelhead fishing areas. During this period anglers are allowed to keep rainbow trout, and the daily limit is 10. It is a barbless hook fishery, as all fish except rainbow must be released. This was introduced to eliminate triploid rainbow trout that had come down from Rufus Woods Reservoir. Many may recall that several years ago, there was a very large intentional release of triploids into Rufus Woods from the net pens due to extreme high water levels and heavy current. I heard estimates that over 100,000 fish were released, and the area below Chief Joseph Dam was opened to fishing for trout. Of course, the fishing was amazing, with many anglers getting their 10 fish. There aren't the numbers of triploids here now, but there should be enough to make for a great day. This is a good area to fish with a bobber and jig, and I saw many fish taken by anglers casting a white hoochie to the shore and eddies.

WORKING DOG MIX Males & Females | 3 months old

A mix of two working breeds, these pups are adorable, sweet, and full of promise — but let's be real: puppies are work. The first year matters so much, and we are looking for families who are ready to invest time, patience, training, structure, and lots of positive experiences to help them grow into well-balanced adult dogs.

These puppies are smart, busy, curious, and naturally ready to have a job on a FARM, RANCH OR HOME WITH ACREAGE.

Working on potty & crate training, collar exposure, and have been around kids.

Training is non-negotiable for this pack! They are the perfect age for Puppy Kindergarten, followed by a basic obedience class before they turn one and we are happy to provide trainer referrals in our area. Out of area? We can help point you toward options too.

Each puppy has DHPPV vaccines, dewormed, microchip, & will come home with leash, collar, puppy food, and a favorite blanket/ toy. Puppies are altered before adoption. Follow-up vet care, including remaining puppy shots and rabies, will be the adopters responsibility.

Adoption Fee is $350
